

Todd Gloria
Mayor

I grew up in Clairemont, the son of a gardener and a maid who taught me that if you love something, you should leave it better than you found it. I love San Diego, and I share your frustration at the challenges we face as a result of leaders ignoring our problems. Enough! I've made tough choices to get us back on the right path. While there is much work left to do, we've finally laid the foundation for progress.

Housing the homeless. I've banned homeless encampments near schools and in parks, increased shelter beds by 70%, and expanded mental health and substance abuse services.

Keeping San Diego safe. I've worked with law enforcement to keep crime low and make San Diego one of the safest big cities in the country.

Helping people get ahead. We must lower rents and mortgages and get more money into people's pockets by building middle-class housing in the right places, lowering utility costs, and creating good jobs.

Improving every neighborhood. We've repaired 939 miles of roads; fixed potholes, streetlights, and sidewalks; built fire stations; improved libraries; and opened or upgraded 20 parks.

Let's keep moving forward. Vote Todd Gloria for Mayor.
