Subject: New Survey for Development Services Website Feedback

The Development Services Department is exploring ways to make information on our website more accessible, as well as making it easier to navigate regulations and requirements governing development in the City of San Diego.

As part of this process, we would like to hear about customer experiences with our site. By taking this user survey, you'll be able to share feedback that informs future adjustments and features to help our site better serve developers, residents and all San Diegans.

Improving our website furthers #DigitalDSD goals, modernizing our approach to the delivery of information and overall customer experiences. Our goal is to save time, save money and make development within the city easier than ever.

We look forward to hearing from you and greatly appreciate your participation!
