

A PATH FORWARD

Dialogue Series

Break Down Barriers. Build Connections.

We overcome intolerance and hate when we talk openly to one another and create meaningful action from shared values.

The National Conflict Resolution Center (NCRC), along with our partners, invites you to join a dialogue series that brings together interfaith and secular communities, reflecting the cultural diversity in our region. By breaking down barriers and building new connections, we can address the divisiveness and polarization in our society.

ABOUT THESE EVENTS:

Each event features a guided dialogue where groups will collaborate on achievable, positive social action. Together we will learn and practice how to communicate in a way that will restore a strong sense of community. We will walk away with the tools to continue these important discussions with our friends, colleagues, and neighbors.
